

Shout-Outs!

We're loving the new look at Pasqualino's. The Italian restaurant, a Penn Hills destination, has undergone a dining room makeover that includes new flooring and furnishings, plus fresh colors on the walls. Owner Frank Pasqualino says that constantly improving and redefining the restaurant has been one of its keys to success over more than four decades. (And can we talk about that mean red sauce??) "The old saying goes, 'If it ain't broke, don't fix it,'" he notes. "I say, if you don't keep fixing, it's going to get broken." Non ci piove!

A shout-out to The Color Palette Paint Store in East Liberty, which has added window treatments to its offerings. Now, across from all of the shelves lined with paint cans, visitors to the South Euclid Avenue store will find Hunter Douglas display units that provide just a small glimpse of the many blinds, shades, sheers, and shutters available to be customized for any window, no matter the shape or size.

Feast your eyes on this: Oakland Fashion Optical is carrying a line of eyewear that is completely customizable. With bespoke glasses by TD Tom Davies of London, eyeglass wearers can choose their preferred shape, color, size, and finish to get exactly the frames they want. E. David King, the optician who owns the South Craig Street shop, says, "There's a lot of depth to the selection." Eye would say so!
